

Today, everything is quick! We live in a world that is quick and easy. We have search boxes and “how-to” videos. We are able to ask someone a question at any time.

Many researchers report that technology has contributed to our society becoming lazier. We have become very impatient. We don’t want to take the time to become better at something. We want to be the best at it right away. Have you heard yourself saying, “This is too hard!” way quicker than you should be saying it?

Did you know that challenges are good? God allows challenges in our lives so that we have to work through them and rely on Him.

Because your weaknesses highlight God’s _____, you should be _____ with them.

So the natural question is, “why? - Why should I be content with my weaknesses?”

An _____ of weaknesses leads to pride. (2 Cor. 12:7)

- I can be content in my weakness knowing that God is lovingly reminding me that He is almighty and I _____ Him.
- I can be content in my weakness knowing that God can be _____ through my weaknesses.

The acknowledgment of weaknesses leads to God’s _____ in our lives. (2 Cor. 12:9)

Through this passage, God is saying to you _____, “My grace is sufficient for you. My strength is made perfect in your weakness.”

God did not explain Himself to Paul. He simply gave Paul a promise. “We do not live on explanations; we live on _____.” - Warren Wiersbe

The acceptance of weaknesses leads to _____. (2 Cor. 12:10)

What should I do with my weaknesses?

Ask yourself the question: “How can God use my weaknesses to show His power?”

Final Thoughts:

Questions for you:

1. Can you be content in _____?
2. Can you be content with God _____?
3. Can you be content with allowing God to use your _____ for His sake and for His glory?